TAKING CARE OF YOUR BED

WHO ARE YOU SLEEPING WITH?

Dust mites are simply unpleasant creatures that inhabit mattresses, surviving on the moisture and dead skin from body contact. Allergens produced by house dust mites are the most common triggers of asthma. Staingard's Mattress Protector significantly reduces the growth of bacteria which in turn will reduce the mite irritation.

STAINGARD'S ANTI-ALLERGY MATTRESS PROTECTOR

- ✓ Protect your mattress
- ✓ Keep allergens away from the skin
- ✓ Limits the growth of bacteria
- ✓ Absorbs 50% more moisture than cotton
- ✓ Smooth fibre surface that is naturally hygienic with built in freshness
- ✓ Environmentally friendly production

CARE FOR YOUR BED AND IT WILL CARE FOR YOU

We spend around a third of our lives in bed and rely on good quality sleep for a healthier life. So it is well worth investing in a bed and looking after it by following a few rules:

Do not bend or roll your mattress as this can cause serious damage to the spring unit, the fillings and affects the overall strength and durability.

Your mattress has been designed to support your weight, distributed evenly over the surface. A concentrated weight can cause damage.

Sitting on the mattress for prolonged periods will distort the springs and cause the fillings to settle unevenly.

Avoid placing heavy or bulky objects on the mattress and if your divan has drawers, avoid overloading as these can cause permanent damage. Likewise, don't stand or jump on the bed as the springs can be damaged by the impact.

Always use a good quality mattress protector.
